

WFH - International Hemophilia Training Centre (IHTC) Fellowship Program (2024)

Descrição

The World Federation of Hemophilia (WFH) (<https://wfh.org/>), an international not-for-profit organization, was established in 1963. WFH has provided global leadership to improve and sustain care for people with inherited bleeding disorders, including hemophilia, von Willebrand disease, rare factor deficiencies, and inherited platelet disorders.

The International Hemophilia Training Centre (IHTC) Fellowship Program (<https://wfh.org/request-fellowships-and-grants/ihtc-fellowship-program/>) aims to give healthcare professionals from developing countries training in the diagnosis and management of hemophilia and other inherited bleeding disorders. Each year the WFH awards up to 37 fellowships to medical and paramedical staff. Fellows travel to one of 31 designated IHTCs for a four to six-week training in the clinical and paramedical aspects of hemophilia management.

Data Limite

October 31, 2024.

Elegibilidade

1. Fellowships are offered to healthcare professionals from developing countries working in close collaboration with hemophilia services;
2. All members of the comprehensive hemophilia care team are eligible for fellowships, including physicians, nurses, physiotherapists, laboratory scientists and technicians, orthopedic surgeons, dentists, psychologists, and social workers.

Valor Financiado

The IHTC Fellowship Program provides funding for roundtrip economy airfare and housing. The WFH will also reimburse the visa application fee (if required) and travel medical insurance for fellows. In addition, the WFH provides funds for meals and local transportation during training. The training is given by volunteer health care professionals at the host IHTCs. No remuneration is given to the host IHTC or to the healthcare professionals who provide training, and salary compensation is not included for fellows.
