
University of Bergen - Bergen Summer Research School 2025

Descrição

The University of Bergen (UiB) (<https://www.uib.no/en>) is an internationally recognised research university. Academic diversity and high quality are fundamental for them. UiB is the most cited university in Norway. There are seven faculties at UiB and there are a total of 16 900 students at the university. Around 1 880 of these are international students.

The Bergen Summer Research School (<https://www.uib.no/en/rs/bsrs/139725/application#academic-level>) offers PhD candidates and junior researchers the opportunity to work together with internationally renowned scholars. In order to participate, you need to have a good command of the English language.

Full participation in the course-specific modules, reading of the provided literature prior to the research school, and participation in all plenary events is required. You may take only one of the five parallel courses.

You may take only one of the six parallel courses:

1. Health financing towards Universal Health Coverage;
2. Accounting for sustainability;
3. Democratic practices and sustainability;
4. Creative innovations in higher education;
5. Interdisciplinary perspectives on climate change and health.

Joint sessions:

Systems thinking and creative problem-solving.
