
APF - Division 39 Marsha D. McCary Fund Grant for Psychoanalysis

Descrição

The American Psychological Foundation (APF) (<https://apf.apa.org/>) provides financial support for innovative research and programs that enhance the power of psychology to elevate the human condition and advance human potential both now and in generations to come. APF supports original, innovative research and projects.

Through the annual grants, the Marsha D. McCary Fund Grant for Psychoanalysis (<https://apf.apa.org/funding/division-39-mccary-grant/>) seeks to recognize and promote the contributions of psychoanalysis to psychology as a science and profession. It encourages and supports programs in education, research, and service that will advance the profession and keep the psychological community and the public informed of developments in psychoanalytic scholarship, research, and practice.

The Fund hopes to focus on populations that are in need of support, such as early career professionals, students from diverse backgrounds, and therapists working with underserved populations.
